

The San Antonio Aids Foundation is looking for its next Chief Executive Officer (CEO). The next CEO of the San Antonio Aids Foundation (SAAF) will lead the organization through a period of transformation change. Over the next few years as treatment options continue to improve and the challenges faced by the HIV/AIDS community change, SAAF will need to realign its services to meet the needs of this community. The next CEO will influence that realignment and direct its implementation.

The next CEO of SAAF will step into a very high-profile role, interacting with politicians, community and philanthropic leaders while strengthening the organization's existing funding streams and developing new streams. As the leader of SAAF, the next CEO will represent the organization at local, regional, state and national gatherings and convenings of AIDS service organizations (ASO). This is the ideal opportunity for a mid-career professional to be the catalyst to take the organization to the next level.

The minimum requirements to be considered for this position are:

- Bachelor's degree in Business, Sociology or a related field
- At least 10 years of senior executive experience. Master's degree will substitute for 5 years of experience
- Excellent leadership skills
- Ability to clearly and effectively communicate with HIV/AIDS community members, board members, staff, elected officials, funding agencies, and the media Critical thinking, collaboration and problem-solving skills
